A classical guitarist was very happy to hear from New York City police that his valuable guitar had been found. He lost it a year ago when he got out of a taxicab and forgot to take the guitar with him. Tommy, 44, said he was running late that day. He was talking to his manager on his mobile phone when he rushed out of the cab. He said that he gave the driver $20 and told him to keep the change. He walked through the front doors of the concert hall still talking on the phone to his manager. Upon discovering his loss, Tommy used his phone to call the police. The policeman asked him for the name of the cab company and the number of the cab.

"This year has been depressing," said Tommy. "I had to postpone the recording of two new CDs. I've been using borrowed guitars. And I was losing hope of ever finding my guitar."

Tommy was reunited with his $100,000 guitar yesterday. The case and the guitar had been discovered in the corner of a coffeehouse only two blocks from where Tommy had lost it in the first place.
