II-READING COMPREHENSION ( 50 MARKS )

Read the following passage ,then answer the questions below:

The most precious fluid on earth is not oil, but water. There are few challenges as important as conserving the world's usable water and supplying clean drinking water and water for irrigation to those who need it. Yet this work is not getting done. Humans are consuming the earth's store of usable water at a rate that will soon threaten our food supply. Poor water management already kills millions of people a year and condemns hundreds of millions to hunger.

Providing poor areas with drinking water and sanitation, for example, is easy to do and a cost-effective way to prevent deaths and disease. There is now an opportunity for progress. More than 100 water ministers from around the world, along with thousands of water experts from villagers to scientists, have gathered in the Netherlands. The conference will be useful if it can persuade governments and international banks to pay more attention to conservation and fair distribution of water.

In 1980, the U.N. set a goal of safe drinking water for all by 1990. Because of international concern, about two billion new people received clean drinking water over the subsequent 14 years. A new commitment is urgently needed to spread these health gains, help poor farmers and conserve the world's precious supply of usable water.

III- SUMMARY MAKING ( 20 Marks)

In the Open University, the students must either work full-time or be at home all day, for instance mothers of families. They do not have to pass any examinations before they are accepted as students. This is why the university is called open. The university was started in order to help a known group people who missed having a university education when they were young.

The first name for the Open university was "The University Of The Air" The idea was to teach on the air , in other words on radio and television . Most of the teaching is done like this. Radio and television have brought the classroom into people's homes. But this , on its own , is not enough for a university education. The Open University student also receives advice at one of 283 study centres in the country. 36 week of the year, he has to send written work to a "tutor" the person who guides his studies. He must also spend three weeks every Sunday as a full-time student.

In four sentences of your own , write the facilities offered to students in the Open University . ( 4x5 = 20 Marks)
